This latest tax increase from Jefferson Union High School District tries to use the state budget crisis to grab unearned money. The district wants to increase and "extend" (read: increase) the 2012 parcel tax of $48/year for another 10 years, and hike it to $60 per year — just when we thought its expiration would give our family budgets a boost.

Besides the fact that enrollment here is declining, has the district earned this extension that will cost our households another $600 each?

Let's look at student test scores:

- 2012–13 English results: 56% met proficiency
- 2012–13 Mathematics: 25% met proficiency
- 2012–13 Science: 55% met proficiency
- 2012–13 History: 51% met proficiency

(Source: Education Data Partnership, www.Ed-Data.k12.ca.us)

If you got 25–56% of the answers right on a test, that would be a failing grade, would it not?

Should we, the voters, reward a 44–75% failure rate?

If you answered "no," we encourage you to vote NO on Measure F.

The average expense per student statewide is $10,194 per year, versus Jefferson Union High School District's $10,374, or 102% of the statewide average. Yet, they want more of your hard-earned money to pad their salaries and fat pension plans.

Most school districts' parcel tax measures state, "None of the funds will be used for administration." But, that wording is missing from Measure F. That means funds WILL be used for administration expenses without limits.

Here is the latest salary information for the district:

Their "family plan" benefits package costs us $17,504 per teacher per year, while they work an average of only 180 days a year.
Tell Jefferson Union High School District to be financially responsible, by voting NO on Measure C.
